Seminar on real world applications of differential calculus

Class: I Semester BSc

Date of Activity: 22/02/2021

Lecturer Name: Mr.Rajshekhar Hammigi

Objective:

- To create awareness about real world application of differential calculus.
- To make students to look forward for application oriented learning of topics in syllabus.

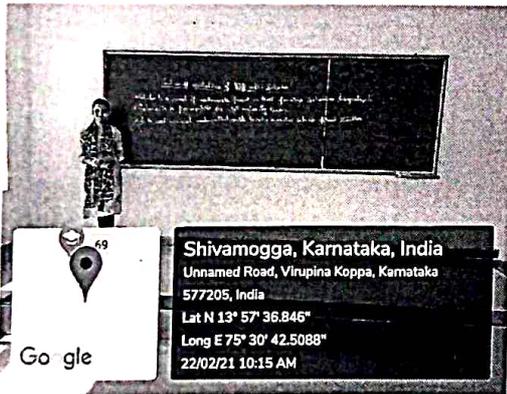

Rules of Activity:

- Compulsory participation for every student.

Outcome:

This seminar encourages students to learn the purpose of studying calculus and simply to introduce their mind to the scientific method of analysis.

The students actively participated themselves in the seminar and they have learnt the importance of differential calculus.

Class Activity Report

Date of Activity : 23-2-2021

Class : III Semester B.Com

Name of the Activity: A debate on the 'Relevance of Family as a Social Institution in 21st Century'

Faculty Name : Aditya J

Objectives:

- To brainstorm students on an interdisciplinary subject, yet relating to the domain of commerce.
- To familiarize them with contemporary issues of gender, sex, man-woman relationships, marital life, family economy, polity and its influence on society.
- To make them speak their mind without any inhibition.
- To encourage them to share their personal ideologies.
- To help them to gain a holistic view of society and apply the knowledge gained.

Rules of Activity:

- Compulsory Participation.
- Each student has to participate either as a direct party debating on the subject or as an indirect party asking questions to the debating parties or sharing feedback on the debate.
- Participants need to mind their language and maintain the decorum. Use of un-parliamentary language or any other untoward behavior leads to disqualification.

Outcome:

Students were excited by the subject and nature of the activity which was entirely different from their core subject activities. Though hesitant in the initial part, they were very soon to lose their inhibitions and reservations, eventually enjoying the debate. Despite being a minor class activity, the session certainly had its effect on their thoughts which was visible in their interactions in the subsequent classes.

Role Play of Indian Parliament

Date of Activity: 25 Aug 21

Class: BCA 4th Sem "B" section.

Lecturer Name: Ms Sushma G S

Objective:

- The best way to teach your class about Parliament is to turn class into a parliament.
- Students will run their own debates, make their own speeches and vote on issues just like real members of parliament.
- This role-play presents a simplified version of the real Parliament, capturing its main ideas without all the complex procedural detail.

Rules of Activity:

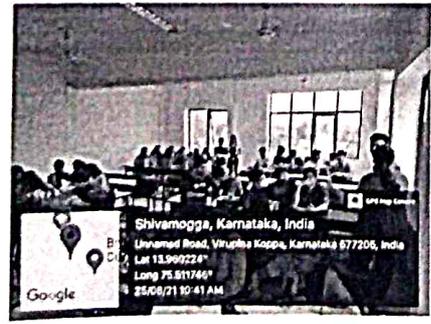

- Compulsory participation for every student.
- The presenter stands in the House of Representatives.
- The presenter writes the suggestions on a whiteboard.
- The teacher selects the Speaker and other members.
- The Speaker calls the Minister to speak about the bill. The Minister stands to make a speech.
- The Speaker calls for the Shadow Minister to make a speech.
- The Shadow Minister stands and makes a speech.
- The Speaker listens to the end of the previous speech then adjourns the House.
- Some members stand to speak. The Speaker calls on someone who then speaks.
- Other members stand for further debate and the Speaker calls on them in turn.
- In the classroom, the student in the role of the Speaker conducts a vote on the voices where each side responds in turn.
- The Speaker adjourns the House.

Contributors:

Sahana S
Ranjitha

Outcome:

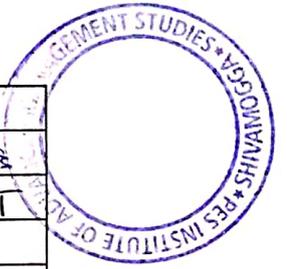

- This activity has encouraged students to explore the interconnection and integration of Parliament.
- Students were able to understand the building blocks of the Parliament.
- Students were actively involved in the activity and they learnt about the structure of Parliament and understood how issues will be discussed and addressed in Parliament.

Accounting Quiz

Date of Activity: 26/02/2021
Class : I Semester M.Com
Faculty Name : Mrs. Ayesha Siddiqua

Objective:

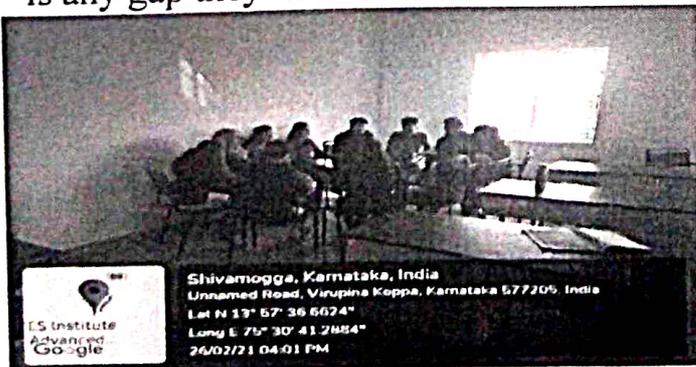

- To improve the accounting knowledge of the students.
- To let the students know what is learned and what is not.
- To identify the gaps in knowledge.

Rules of Activity:

1. Compulsory participation.
2. The students were divided into two equal groups.
3. Two rounds were conducted. In first round, questions were directly asked to the groups. In the second round, if one of the groups fails to answer, the question will be passed to another group.
4. 40 seconds were given in the first round and 20 seconds in the second round.

Outcome:

The activity was cheered by all students. It was a fun way to end the two chapters of Accounting theory and analysis, as both the chapters were theoretical that is Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and Accounting Theories. It helped the students to express their accounting knowledge by answering the questions and to identify if there is any gap they need to learn.

Class Activity Report

Date of Activity : 02-03-2021

Class : III Semester BCA- A & BSc

Name of the Activity: A debate on the 'Relevance of Family as a Social Institution in 21st Century'

Faculty Name : Aditya J

Objectives:

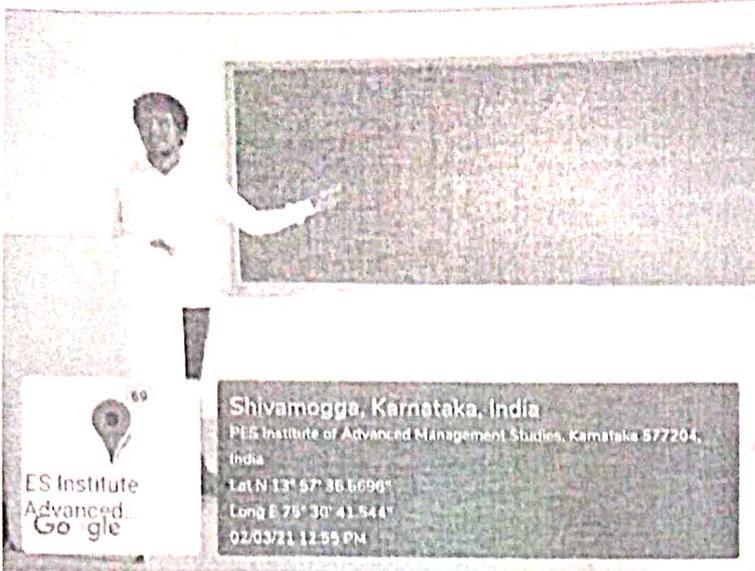

- To brainstorm students on an interdisciplinary subject, yet relating to the domain of commerce.
- To familiarize them with contemporary issues of gender, sex, man-woman relationships, marital life, family economy, polity and its influence on society.
- To make them speak their mind without any inhibition.
- To encourage them to share their personal ideologies.
- To help them to gain a holistic view of society and apply the knowledge gained.

Rules of Activity:

- Compulsory Participation.
- Each student has to participate either as a direct party debating on the subject or as an indirect party asking questions to the debating parties or sharing feedback on the debate.
- Participants need to mind their language and maintain the decorum. Use of un-parliamentary language or any other untoward behavior leads to disqualification.

Outcome:

Students were excited by the subject and nature of the activity which was entirely different from their core subject activities. Though hesitant in the initial part, they were very soon to lose their inhibitions and reservations, eventually enjoying the debate. Despite being a minor class activity, the session certainly had its effect on their thoughts which was visible in their interactions in the subsequent classes.
